Dear HR,

I am writing to apply for the Backend Developer Internship at Infosys. I am currently pursuing B.Tech in Computer Science from Rungta International Skills University and am eager to gain practical experience in backend development, API design, database management, and system support.

I have a basic knowledge in programming languages such as Java and Python, along with working knowledge of HTML and CSS. I am actively developing my skills in backend technologies, server-side logic, and databases, and I am always enthusiastic about learning new tools and frameworks. I am confident that my dedication, technical abilities, and problem-solving approach will allow me to contribute effectively during the internship.

Please find my resume attached for your review. I would be grateful for the opportunity to discuss how I can add value to your team.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you.

Warm regards,
